Red Sox Batter Way To Victory Over C.N.

Glickman Held Champs Halpless for Three Frames But Sox Wrecked Crew Found Him in Fourth and Rattled the Fences for Fifteen Hits and Thirteen Runs—Score 13 to 4

Red Sox snapped back into form last night and administered a thrashing to four whippersnaws in the Canadian Nationals at Diamond Park last night. It was a boy's own game for the Sox who have been laboring under the weight of a terrible slump ever since the season opened.

In the first frame of the contest last night it looked as though the Sox were going to get a quick victory. Glickman on the mound for the Nationals held them helplessly for three frames. He had them swinging wildly. Opening the fourth when they were two runs down the heavy hitters of the Sox apparently recovered their batting eye and began to land on Glickman's offerings with a vengeance. Collecting eight blows in two frames, the same accounting for his reluctant number three, Jimmy Wynn. Sox slugged the ball into left field for two runs with the count at one out, ending over three runs. Through the Sox collected another run in the sixth and in the eighth recovered their heavy hitting collecting four runs on two singles, a three-bagger and a home run.

Glickman started out like a whirlwind. He was burning them out at high speed and had the Sox baffled but the effort was too much to maintain and after they once started the counts clustered their hits in groups.

The box score follows:
